PRAYER CHAIN ~ Contact Janet Creager at 419-592-5799

Dear Parishioners:

It is one of the most quoted lines in scripture where Jesus tells Peter "Get behind me Satan..." A few short sentences prior Peter identifies Jesus saying "You are the Christ." Peter did not want Jesus to go through the suffering of the Cross and so he tried to shield Jesus from that trial. We are all told to take up our crosses and follow Jesus. In the Cross Jesus triumphed over sin and death and we must also follow on that path.

Oscar Wilde was a famous Irish writer who at the peak of his career was convicted of a morals charge. When he was released from prison the shallow comedies he had been writing were just frivolous to him. After this experience Wilde wrote some of the most poetic lines in history. He wrote: "Where sorrow is, there is holy ground." And in another beautiful passage wrote: "How else but through the broken heart may the Lord Christ enter in?"

We are at a great loss in our own lives when we refuse or fear picking up the crosses that come our way. It is not the suffering or the struggles, but how we respond to them that is important. When we pick up the crosses that come our way and carry them with courage, as Jesus did, something new and beautiful is often created. It is through the Cross of Christ that we learn that suffering is not the end.

Let us all pray for people who need healing in their lives for whatever is pressing on their souls! Let us all pray for the grace to understand that sorrow and suffering can eventually open up our lives to a peace and beauty that seems to evade us, but can be found in the Cross of the Christ.

Welcome Turtle Fest visitors! Thanks for your support and thank you to all who work hard making this gathering a success!

Peace,

Fr. Doug

BANNS OF MATRIMONY

II - Jared Dunn and Rachel Finley

FROM THE SCHOOL

An article in Today's Catholic Teacher by Sr. Pat McCormick discussed relationship readiness. During middle school it can seem like everything about is changing- and it is! Your body, brain, and emotions are changing. Probably you are more sensitive or even moody and more self-conscious, reluctant and reticent than you used to be. Probably you feel inferior to others, believing that just about everybody else is more capable than you- or maybe you are tempted to squash your uniqueness because you do not want to stick out in the crowd. Peer opinion, approval, and criticism cause pressure. Most teens experience anxiety involving relationships with peers of both sexes.

Convert stress into usefulness. Discover and develop your personality by having five specific skills.

Develop your personality. Young children and immature people live in a world of "me, myself, and I." That attitude does not win friends or cause teams and groups to seek your membership; neither does negativity, a critical attitude, or a boring spirit. Strive to be positive, purposeful, enthusiastic, and proud. Keep your promises. Put effort and energy into everything you do. Safeguard confidences.

Avoid gossip. Be welcoming and show interest to all students. (four more next week)

Student council elections were held a week ago. Officers include: President- Alyssa Sifuentes; Vice-President- Ella Cordes; Secretary- Nick Nahrwold; Treasurer- Blake Westhoven; and Historian- Vera Davis. Congratulations to all of them, and I hope they have a good year.
